

BIG GAME OF POLITICS BEHIND MULLER'S VISIT

Brazil Steals a March on Argentina in Playing for Favor of the United States.

JEALOUSY BETWEEN RIVALS

Argentine Vice-President Will Come Later—Brazilian Statesman Deeply Interested in Coffee Duty.

[From The Tribune Bureau.]
Washington, June 30.—Behind the visit of Dr. Lauro Muller, the eminent statesman from Brazil, who is now in Western North America, accompanied by a dozen or more of his own staff and by several aids from the Department of State, lies a game of South American politics. When Dr. Muller started on his visit to the United States on the Brazilian battleship Minas Geraes it was announced that he was coming here to return the visit which Senator Elihu Root, then Secretary of State, made to Brazil in 1906. This announcement was received in diplomatic circles with diplomatically concealed mirth.

There has been a serious rivalry between Brazil and Argentina for many years in their efforts to stand well with the United States. This has been shown time and again, and has sometimes helped to add to the jealousy existing between the two nations.

When Brazil sent an ambassador to America and America sent an ambassador to Brazil, while Argentina had to be satisfied with a mere minister, there was a furor in the Argentine capital and the resentment of Argentine officials has never fully subsided. It was considered a great triumph for Brazil, and Brazilians plumed themselves upon being considered more important than Argentina. There was a movement later to induce the United States to raise its mission in Buenos Aires to an embassy, but this was blocked because Chile and probably other South American countries would claim similar honors and privileges.

Dr. Muller's visit to America is really to promote Brazil's popularity and welfare. But Argentina purposes to retaliate by sending to the United States next autumn Dr. Victorino de la Plaza, Vice-President of the republic, and a statesman of note. Dr. de la Plaza had planned to come to this country some months ago, but on account of political difficulties at home he delayed departure. In the mean time the Brazilians stole a march and got their man here first.

An added reason, and an important one, for Dr. Muller's trip concerns the tariff which the United States is engaged in revising. Brazil has been sorely afraid that the United States might adopt a preferential tariff favoring Porto Rican coffee. There is great concern over the provision which has been inserted in the tariff bill by the Senate Finance Committee that the President power to apply a duty of three cents a pound to coffee as a retaliatory measure. When Dr. Muller returns from the Pacific Coast he expects to take this matter up and procure, if he can, an adjustment satisfactory to Brazil.

ANDREW CARNEGIE SELLS PLOT ON FIFTH AVENUE

Property on Northeast Corner of 91st Street May Be for Otto H. Kahn.

The Lawyers' Realty Company, a holding company for the Lawyers' Title Company, took title yesterday to Andrew Carnegie's vacant plot at the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and 91st street. Mr. Carnegie took back a purchase money mortgage of $75,000 on the property.

With the transfer another was filed whereby a strip 22 by 100.8 feet on the easterly side of the plot, which measures 90 by 162 feet, is transferred by the Lawyers' Realty Company to the wife of James A. Burden, whose home is at No. 1 East 91st street.

The mortgage does not include this strip, which has an interesting history of the selling of the premises Nos. 7 and 9 East 91st street by Mr. Carnegie in 1902 for improvement with dwelling houses, and on these plots now are two big dwellings, one occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Burden and the other by Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Hammond. Each house has a frontage of more than 67 feet. They were built under an agreement that the westerly house would always have its air and light conserved by a strip of land bordering.

Mr. Carnegie, it appears, forgot about the reservation provision when he sold the plot of 50 feet adjoining the Burden house without any restrictions other than that the property was to be used as a site for a modern dwelling.

General Lloyd S. Bryce was the buyer in that transaction. He, however, never got title to the property.

It is believed that Otto H. Kahn is the real buyer of the corner parcel.

CUBISM HEIR OF INSANITY

Thomas Moran Says It Is Work of the Unbalanced.

Thomas Moran, the veteran painter of American landscapes, arrived here last night by the Atlantic Transport Line Minnetonka after a trip of two months in England. Before he sailed for Europe he had just come in from Arizona, where he had been making some sketches of the Grand Canyon, and decided to go to England for a rest.

Mr. Moran, who is seventy-six years old and has been painting since he was eighteen years old, expressed a most profound disgust yesterday for the work and ideas of the cubists and impressionists. "I have seen their work and have dismissed them from my mind," he said. "The cubists are practically all academic failures. That is why they have taken up this insane idea of cubism. They have a few followers, who think they understand cubism, but they do not. I believe that cubism and impressionism come from unbalanced brains—from minds made wild by absinthe, cocaine and morphine. No healthy, sane person could waste time on such nonsense."

Cubism starts within man a resentment just as strong as does the modern music of Debussy and Strauss. The world has put its seal on great men because they were great men. The works of Da Vinci, Van Dyck, Rubens and Fra Angelico will always be great, because they came from master minds and hands.

Mr. Moran, who is enjoying excellent health, said he would resume his work at his home, in Easthampton, Long Island.

ACTION AGAINST ROOF SHOW

Inspector Dwyer Says New York Performance Is Unlicensed.

Police Inspector Dwyer told Magistrate Corrigan yesterday in the West Side court that the management of the New York Roof Garden was violating the law in charging an admission to the roof garden, where a regular theatrical performance was being held without a license.

Neither William Morris nor Morris Hyams, his manager, was in court. After the theatrical men, through their attorney, had obtained a postponement until July 11 Inspector Dwyer intimated that if the show was put on in the mean time he would stop it and arrest the performers.

IN THE STOCK THEATRES.

"The Easiest Way," Eugene Walter's successful drama, is the offering this week at the Harlem Opera House. The play, with its intensely dramatic situations and many opportunities for good acting, was excellently presented by the stock company at this theatre, and Florence Malone and Lowell Sherman played the leading roles with their customary ability.

"The Deserters," Robert Payton Carter's play of military life and manners, which had a successful run a short time ago at the Hudson Theatre, is well played by the company at the Academy of Music this week. Priscilla Knowles gives a good Madge Summers and Theodore Friebe is equally popular in his part of Jim Craig.
